NEXT SUNDAY CONFESSIONS BEFORE 10AM MASS

This Sunday is the second to last Sunday of our liturgical year. As we approach the end of the Church year, our Gospel invites us to consider Jesus' predictions and teaching about the end of the world. In the context of Mark's Gospel, Jesus' words about this are spoken to his disciples as he prepares them for his passion and death. Last Sunday we heard Jesus' observation about the contributions being made to the temple treasury and the example of sacrificial giving that he saw in the poor widow's offering. We also would heard Jesus instruct his disciples about the need for watchfulness so that they will not be caught unprepared for this final day of judgment. In today's Gospel, Jesus continues this teaching by offering his disciples signs to look for that will indicate that the coming of the Son of Man is near. His words and images draw upon Old Testament imagery, especially images found in the Book of Daniel. Next, Jesus offers the lesson of the fig tree, a parable that teaches that if one knows how to read the signs, one can be prepared for the end times. Jesus also teaches, however, that no one knows when the end time will come, except the Father. In the verses that follow this reading in Mark's Gospel, Jesus continues to warn his disciples to be on watch for this end time. Jesus' words are not spoken to frighten his disciples, nor should they frighten us. Rather, they are offered to prepare us for the changes we will experience during our lifetimes and at the end times. Our consolation and hope is found in the lasting nature of Jesus' words and God's never-ending love for us.

From Loyola Press

Thank You Fr. T.J. Dolce, Vocation Director for the Archdiocese of Galveston-Houston for being here this Sunday!

POPE FRANCIS' PRAYER INTENTIONS FOR NOVEMBER:

That we may be open to personal encounter and dialogue with all, even those whose convictions differ from our own ...

AND

That pastors of the Church, with profound love for their flocks, may accompany them and enliven their hope ...

BISHOP VASQUEZ' PRAYER INTENTION FOR TODAY:

For the Church, may our focus be on Christ who is always near ...

GOSPEL REFLECTION

As we experience difficulties and challenges in life, we must remember that Jesus is there sending his angels, his messengers to draw us in. Our encounter with Christ calls us to long for and cling to him. What are the things upon which I rely rather than clinging to Christ? Christ is always near and closest in our need.
